Louisville, Kentucky ? A company that has always worked hard to expand its inventory of tree care gear, Tree Service Experts Louisville has acquired new stump removal machines that allow it to handle both complete stump removal and stump grinding. The company states that this will allow its customers to choose the option that best fits into their budget and also offers maximum benefits.

?We have noticed that a lot of property owners tend to ignore stump removal after bringing down their trees,? said the company?s CEO, ?We have realized that one of the reasons why this happens is the cost of stump removal. Now that our company is equipped with the best stump removal tools, property owners can rest assured that they will be getting the best stump removal deals.?

Tree Service Experts Louisville reports that tree stumps tend to turn into safety hazards with time. ?While you may assume that the tree stump won?t affect you because you can see it,? said the chief of field operations,

?Things will change when it gets covered by overgrowth. When the stump is hidden under the overgrowth, it can keep damaging your lawn maintenance tools. Backing up your precious car on the stump means spending thousands of dollars repairing the damage it may cause. When walking around your landscape at night, you may trip on the stump and suffer injury. All these reasons show you why stump removal is important. Our customers can choose stump grinding when their goal is to boost safety. If they intend to use the space occupied by the tree stump, complete stump removal will be a better option.?

Tree Service Experts Louisville reports that its team can handle stump removal right after tree removal. Also, the company reports that it can combine stump removal with other tree care procedures, including tree pruning, tree trimming, and emergency tree services.
