Telus/Cambridge Electronics Inc. in Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta, Canada, has announced that Telus at the Cornerstone Mall supports small business. This is because they themselves have been a small business in Fort Saskatchewan for almost 30 years. As a way to support small businesses, they are ready to provide a free consultation on how to make the business? communication more streamlined and efficient to enhance business operations and increase revenue.

This support for small business is demonstrated by the experience of Jen MacCormack, owner of Hip Baby in Kitsilano, Vancouver, Canada. She says, "Sustainability is at the forefront of how I choose all the products at Hip Baby. Children are the future and we have to make sure that we leave them a really clean planet. My name is Jen MacCormack and I am the owner of Hip Baby in Kitsilano. What excites me the most about the business is watching how the customers have changed over the years and how people are becoming more educated."

She continues, "It's really exciting to see someone care about where something is from, want to buy things that are sustainable and that will last for more than one child. The one piece of technology that my business cannot live without is my internet connection. Without it I would not be able to run my POS system or run anyone's credit cards. When I bought the store I had been a long term customer of Telus. I think it had been over fifteen years at that point so it was easy to set up the whole store with Telus. My favourite Telus product at the store is definitely our toll free number."

Telus/Cambridge Electronics Inc. has five promises to small businesses and customers. First is that their staff will always make sure that they fully understand the specific needs of a particular business or customer so that the appropriate products or services can be offered . Second, they will ensure that their sales staff will always be courteous, helpful, and respectful in complying with customer?s needs. Third, after making a purchase, customers will always know exactly the kind of plan that they are getting and that there would be no surprises.

Fourth, when customers visit the store they are assured to find the biggest mobile gadgets, smartphones, and other communication accessories that are available in the area. And finally, they can assure customers that the most experienced staff will assist them when they visit the store location. They even have staff members on location that have more than 20 years of experience with regards to consumer electronics.

Telus/Cambridge Electronics Inc. has the goal of helping people discover the best possible communication systems for the small business. They are ready to help people in selecting a complete business communication system that is suitable for their specific requirements and preferences.
