Premium Metal Prints are delighted to announce that their innovative Chromaluxe HD metal prints are now available Australia-wide. The company uses an innovative process that has proven to be a massive success with their customers, and demand has grown in from Sydney to Perth and everywhere in between.

Premium Metals Prints are the number one source for fine art quality printed metal images. Their innovative process, which uses the latest digital printing technology in conjunction with their superior coated Chromaluxe aluminium material, is a massive hit with photographers. The clear, high-definition output achieved when printing onto Chromaluxe metal panels combined with the company's versatile hanging options for wall or shelf display transforms customer images into genuinely stunning artwork.

PMP aluminium panels are lightweight yet rigid and highly durable. Premium Metal Prints are perfect for displaying artwork and photography in superfine detail. The metal panels are made of 90%+ recycled aluminium and are available in a range of sizes and aspect ratios (including traditional photographic sizes and panoramas).

In addition, the Chromaluxe coating allows prints to be showcased without the need for glass or framing. During production, the image is printed at 1440×720 resolution onto high-quality transfer paper, then infused into the aluminium panel using a combination of pressure and heat. This process results in a vibrant, lifelike image permanently bonded to a scratch and fade-resistant surface, which can be easily cleaned and sterilised.

"We have been overwhelmed by the positive feedback we are receiving from our customers about our Chromaluxe HD Metal printing products," said Darren Rutherford of Premium Metal Prints. "When we first launched the business, we were relatively confident that it would prove a popular idea, but the response and demand have far exceeded our expectations. Our customers are using our services to turn their images into heirlooms, everything from photos of their wedding proposals to their classic cars are being immortalised on our aluminium prints."

Premium Metals Prints is an Australian-owned and operated family business, which has been in operation since 1983. They have decades of industry experience printing high-resolution photos and graphics onto metal substrates. Their team is focused on producing premium quality Chromaluxe metal prints for all of their customers and has a genuine commitment to customer satisfaction.
