VinousQ has announced that they have found that the focus of the positive reviews about their wing corkscrew wine opener is the sharpness of the auger and the high standard that was followed. The various reviews discuss different elements of the opener that customers appreciate, although all focus on its superior quality. Since the increase in positive reviews, demand for the opener has increased as well.

"We love that there have been so many positive reviews and that they individually highlight all the things that make our corkscrew so great," says Spec Q. from VinousQ. "We are currently working on increasing our stock again, so nobody will have to go without."

Almost every customer who has purchased the opener has also taken the time out to leave a glowing review. "Having opened a couple of bottles of wine with this today, I am impressed," says Vine Voice reviewer Jenny J.J.I. "It's about as sturdy a wing corkscrew as I've come across." The fact that the opener is very sturdy and solid is a key advantage, according to VinousQ.

Another primary advantage for the opener is that it is multi-functional and contains everything that could possibly be needed to open a bottle of wine or beer. The most important element is the sharpness of the corkscrew, which will prevent the cork from breaking while the bottle is being uncorked. "The corkscrew is really sharp as it opened the difficult to open plastic/rubber cork bottles with ease," says Zolo. Meanwhile, the Eclectic Hippie states that the sharp auger "is pretty sharp so you don't get poked while looking for something else."

A YouTube review video by pumpk1np13 additionally mentions the "sharpness of the tip and pierces the cork very easily." In the past, the reviewer had dull corkscrews which caused the cork to break apart and fall into her wine.

Because of the high quality of the wine corkscrew, it is also being used within the restaurant industry. For sommeliers, being able to open a bottle of wine properly is vital to their service, and they are trusting VinousQ to manage this for them.
