

More People Are Turning to Flags to Express Their 1st Amendment Right to Free Speech

August 02, 2021

Okeechobee, Florida - August 02, 2021 -
Ultimate Flags Inc, a company based in Okeechobee, Florida, has revealed that more and more people are turning to flags to express their first amendment right to free speech. Meanwhile, the company is celebrating free speech with a sale of epic proportions. With a collection of over 10,000 different flags in their warehouse, customers can find something for nearly everyone. Expressing the right to free speech is under threat and this was demonstrated by Facebook's decision to suspend free speech with the suspension of former President Donald J. Trump?s accounts for two years. The company has expressed disappointment with the decision of Facebook to suspend the account of the former president.

It is important to note that in spite of local municipalities attempting to limit and fine homeowners and other property owners who are flying flags that they don?t agree with, the US Supreme Court has continued to uphold 1st Amendment rights.

However, social networking platforms, such as Facebook and Instagram, have been trying to curb free speech. The Facebook and Instagram accounts of former President Trump were frozen because of the posts that he made before the January 6, 2021 US Capitol riots. And the accounts are set to be unlocked only on January 7, 2023.

Jonica Hough, owner of Ultimate Flags Inc, says, ?This is for Americans who are tired of being silenced. This is absolutely unacceptable in the United States in view of the 1st Amendment rights that protect free speech.?

The Ultimate Flags store carries flags that can be classified into different categories ranging from political, peaceful, religious, patriotic, LGBTQ, and many more. They feel proud in being able to help people from all walks of life celebrate their 1st Amendment right to express their views, and share their heritage, issues, and history that they consider valuable. Those who are interested in previous news about 1st amendment rights can check out previous press releases about Ultimate Flags.
