Speaking during the celebrations which were held at the company?s headquarters, the company?s CEO had the following to say, ?There is something called customer satisfaction ? that?s what will separate you from the other companies offering the same services as you. Whenever we handle a project ? say, tree trimming ? we always ask ourselves, on a scale of one to 10, how much would our customer want us to come back for other tree services in the future? Whenever the answer to this question is below 9, our tree trimming team Long Beach knows that something has to be done.?
