Water damage varies on a case to case basis. There are three main categories of damage, depending on the water source and the contaminants that can be found in the water. The first category, clear water, is the least dangerous kind as it will not pose any significant danger when properly treated and mitigated. The second one, grey water, contains some contaminants that may lead to sickness when consumed. The last category, black water, has dangerous fungi and bacteria that can cause severe illnesses. The category of water damage plays a huge role in determining which actions need to be taken in order to avoid any further destruction. As such, it is important to hire water damage restoration companies that can accurately assess, treat and mitigate water damage.

DRYOUTpro PLUS, Inc. has a team of water damage restoration technicians who are all skilled in identifying and executing the proper course of action in any water damage case. They are efficient and skilled at dealing with water damage and restoring properties to their pre-loss conditions. DRYOUTpro PLUS, Inc. makes use of the latest equipment to ensure the best results. Furthermore, they are always ready to respond 24/7, as they understand that water damage disasters can occur at any moment.

DRYOUTpro PLUS, Inc. also offers other services, such as storm damage restoration, fire damage restoration, and more. The company has received high praise from their customers for their work in these fields.

Jaime O. says in a 5-Star Google review, "I hope you never have a disaster requiring emergency flood service clean up, but if you do, DRYOUTpro PLUS, Inc. is the absolute best! We had a flood under our kitchen sink that quickly spread to the living room and bedrooms, and within an hour of calling DRYOUTpro, they were here cleaning up our mess, ripping up floors and installing fans and dehumidifiers. Josh was super nice, professional and calming, and he made the situation so much more bearable. You guys are all awesome, and we couldn't be happier with your service and expertise."

Gregory C. says in another 5-Star review, "What a great company. DRYOUTpro PLUS, Inc. was recommended to me by a trusted friend, and they did not disappoint. They were on-time, cleaned up the mold-damaged drywall and wood and took out the kitchen cabinetry. I was pleased with the price and professionalism of Joel, and while I hope I never have to use this company again, the facts are that with living in Florida, it's possible. Joel is professional, knowledgeable and a first-class man. Thanks for all your hard work!?"
