October 08, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Yonkers, New York based pet supply company, Nature's Secret Remedy, has announced the launch of a new 5 in 1 pet shampoo with oatmeal and aloe, for dogs. Marsha Fox, spokesperson for the company, explained that the shampoo contains both aloe and oatmeal, two ingredients that have been found to be essential for healthy pets. "Our product contains no phosphates, parabens, sulfates, MEA or DEA," she says. "We've designed it to be completely safe, made from natural products, so your pet will feel clean and healthy." This is the only 5-in-1 shampoo that contains oatmeal and aloe.

The company says that they have designed the product to be a shampoo for pets that can cleanse, condition, moisturize, detangle, and deodorize. "It takes out the wet doggy smell, and the oatmeal and aloe help with dry, itchy skin," states Marsha Fox.

Nature's Secret Remedy's Pet Shampoo is manufactured in the U.S.A. The company is dedicated to offering pet owners a selection of natural products, all manufactured from ingredients that have been found to be completely healthy for animals.

The company points out that the pet shampoo is naturally derived and has been made sure not to contain soap or other chemicals that have been deemed to be harmful. The company will be offering a number of new products that are devoted to caring naturally for pets of all types and sizes in the coming months.

Marsha Fox states that their products are all designed with pet health in mind. She points out that many veterinarians today recommend choosing products that are chemical free for pets, particularly smaller dogs and cats. She goes on to say that this is why their pet shampoo is made completely natural and free from any harmful toxins.

"You certainly wouldn't give your child something harmful," explains Marsha Fox. "We feel that a pet is the same as a child. You want products that are safe and natural for your pets, and that's what we aim to provide." This shampoo is a great gift to bring when visiting friends who have dogs. Your friends will appreciate the gift.
