

Chapelwood Expands Drain Cleaning And Sewer Repairs Division Throughout Northern New Jersey

October 08, 2015

October 08, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Chapelwood Home Services, a company based in Newton, New Jersey, has recently expanded their drain cleaning and sewer repairs division into all of Northern New Jersey. The company said that they are excited with this latest move because they are now able to cater to a larger client base, and they are confident that their new clients will be happy with the services that they provide.

Chapelwood Home Services has been in business for 15 years and offers a variety of sewer, storm, drain and septic system services. Included in their services are hydro jetting and video inspections. "We also have a 24 hour emergency service to ensure that our clients have peace of mind. We understand that many of the problems that arise don't always happen during working hours, so there is no reason why our clients need to endure the inconveniences of traditional schedules," said Matthew Miglin, spokesperson for Chapelwood Home Services.

Currently, the company is serving customers all around Essex County, Morris County, Sussex County, Madison, Chatham, Mountain Lakes, West Orange Township, Livingston Township, Short Hills, Upper Montclair, and Newton. The company said that their latest move to expand throughout all of Northern New Jersey ensures that more people are able to take advantage of their services. The company urges all interested parties to visit their website at <http://www.chapelwoodseweranddrain.com>. Here, they will be able to find more information on the types of services provided, and the company has also listed their telephone number and an email contact form for those who have any further questions.

Besides contacting them through their website, the company urges those interested to connect with them via their Facebook, Twitter, and Google plus pages. They also have a presence on Pinterest and YouTube. Chapelwood Home Services made the following statement on the website, "Our clients become our friends and love doing business with us. Many have used our services over and over again for 15 years because we take pride in our work." Matthew Miglin added that through their social networking pages their aim is to build upon this deep connection that they are continuously nurturing with their clients.
