August 23, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

MM Dynamic of New York is a Poughkeepsie, Albany, and Saugerties area roofer that is very experienced when it comes to doing residential and commercial roofing installations and repairs. All of this experience has taught those at the company what some of the most common misconceptions are about roofing services. One of which is that roofing companies such as them shut down during the winter months. Something which is most certainly not the case. In lieu of this, the company decided to post a blog as to how and why they go about completing winter projects to its website. This is just one of several informative and helpful roofing-related posts this reputable Hudson Valley roofer has added to its website which can be found at <https://www.mmdynamicofny.com/>.

This new blog titled ?Why It Is Good to Repair or Replace Your Roof in Winter?, started by reiterating that most northern-based roofing companies such as MM Dynamic do indeed work throughout the winter. It stated that they often complete projects in bitter cold and snowy weather. There are even many good reasons that getting roofing work done during the winter is a great idea. This includes workers on the crews being able to stay refreshed longer because the sun is not beating down on them as intensively as it does during the warmer months of the year. In this newly posted article, also mentioned was that being able to do emergency roof repairs in winter can be essential in avoiding some of the structural and other damage that often accompanies roof repairs being put off to the warmer months. Another benefit of doing winter roofing work that was discussed was that the work often gets done faster because of not only the cooler conditions but also because the materials that are being handled are in a more preferred condition.

This blog that can be viewed at <https://www.mmdynamicofny.com/post/why-it-is-good-to-repair-or-replace-your-roof-in-winter>, summed up by saying that no home or business owner in their region of New York should be stuck with an inefficient and ineffective roof over the winter months. This will only add extra expense in heating bills and other undesirables on top of the expense of getting a repair done. Lastly, it was brought up in the blog that at MM Dynamic they are always prepared to discuss with their residential and commercial customers any roofing questions or concerns that have about getting winter roofing work done.

The company owner, Miklos Moritz, went on to say that they are not afraid to take on any type of commercial or residential roof repair or installation during the winter months and they have an extensive track record of success while doing this. This is especially true for their specialty commercial flat roofing work that often includes using high-quality Prokol Protective Coatings which are backed up by extremely comprehensive warranties. They also do both colder month residential and commercial sloped roof installations and repairs. MM Dynamic is also that rare Hudson Valley roofing company that is very experienced when it comes to working on sometimes tricky and demanding tin, slate, and copper roofs.

Moritz added that no matter what season his company is working in, they are proud to do roofing work that has elicited many 5-star reviews. Such is the case with this one from Eva who states, "MM Dynamic of New York put new roofing material on my garage as well as do a repair on the roof extension of the house. Everything 2 years later is still holding up great and we have no problems with any leaks. That was a nice experience. They were very professional, pleasant, and efficient. I would definitely recommend them to anybody who needs their roofs fixed."

Residential and commercial customers in Albany, Saugerties, Poughkeepsie, and the surrounding Hudson Valley areas that are interested in having roofing work done over the winter season can get more information on this from the above-referenced company website or by going to its Facebook Page which can be seen at <https://www.facebook.com/mmydynamicofny/>.
