National Restoration Experts has long been known as one of the highest-rated damage mitigation experts in Southeastern Florida. Part of that has always been having crews that are very skilled when it comes to helping its customers rebuild after such disasters as fires, floods, and storms have struck. The company has gotten so good with its reconstruction services, that it is now offering kitchen remodeling as a stand-alone service. No longer does someone have to experience an extreme event to take advantage of the superior craftsmanship and attention to detail that National Restoration Experts kitchen reconstruction crews have always shown.

The company owner, Joe Hernandez, says, "I am very pleased to have reconstruction crews that can help put any area of a home back together and get it looking great after a customer has experienced a devastating event that necessitates restoration services. Among the areas of a home that my reconstruction crews repeatedly get compliments on is the quality kitchen remodeling that they do. This happens so often, that I have decided to offer kitchen remodeling work as a stand-alone service and let others experience our high-quality work. This is something that everyone here at my company is extremely excited about doing."

Hernandez went on to discuss why people often rave about the quality of their kitchen remodeling services. According to him, it all starts with the kitchen remodeling design phase of the process. They realize that no matter what the skill level of their kitchen renovation crews is, this only comes into play when they have a well-planned design to go by. That's why they take the time to sit down with a customer before any kitchen remodeling project starts and go over that customer's ideas for the project. He says that during this phase of the renovation, they will advise the customer about what does and doesn't work in a kitchen remodel based on their experience but are also very careful to keep the design in line with the customer's wishes. The company owner says that then and only then can their kitchen remodeling crews put their skills to work to bring a customer's kitchen renovation ideas through to fruition. He says that this is a time-tested recipe for success and part of the reason why their new stand-alone kitchen remodeling service is already attracting many customers. Hernandez added that kitchen remodeling is not the only area of a home that they are now offering stand-alone remodeling work either. That's because they are now doing bathroom remodeling even for those that have not suffered through a damage-causing event.

Those that have had kitchen and bathroom remodeling work done by National Restoration Experts have been very satisfied with the results. Charlene57 Goodwin stated in her 5-star review, "Anis and Bella were awesome. Very thorough always on top of everything. Very pleased with the outcome and the way they did my kitchen. I would highly recommend National Restoration Experts to my community. Raul Villalobos wrote, "Completely satisfied with the excellent work and professionalism. Anis was very responsive and made sure that all the work was done on time and to high standards. I am very happy and would recommend them to anyone looking for good quality work."

In addition to kitchen and bathroom remodeling, National Restoration Experts still offers its full line of fast responding damage mitigation and restoration services. That includes being available 24/7 to help a customer put their life back together as a result of a natural disaster or plumbing-related flooding event. He says that they have the manpower and state-of-the-art equipment available to dry up even the largest flooded areas in a home or business. They also do fire damage restoration, mold remediation, and respond extremely quickly when a hazardous sewage or septic cleanup situation arises. Hernandez is also proud of the fact that they are a Pompano Beach area company that is licensed, insured, and bonded and has a BBB best rating of A+. He added that they routinely take on remodeling and restoration projects for homeowners, businesses, government entities, and even schools and other public buildings.
