August 23, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Kensington, MD - The Kensington workers? compensation attorneys at Maryland Injury Guys are excited to host a webinar focusing on the importance of hiring legal consultation to defend victims in cases of work-related accidents. To learn more, visit: <https://marylandinjuryguys.com/kensington-silver-spring-lawyers/>

"It is within the legal rights of any employee to expect their place of employment to implement adequate safety measures to protect them. However, many Americans suffer from work-related injuries every year due to the negligence of their employers. If you have sustained injuries at work, you can file a civil lawsuit," explains managing lawyer Aaron Blank.

The informative webinar will be held on September 12, 2021, at 6:00 PM through Google Hangout.

Aaron Blank continues, "This webinar aims to educate victims of work accidents on their legal options. We want all victims to understand that if they suffered due to improper safety regulations, their employer could be deemed negligent in the court of law. If an employer is found negligent, they can be held liable to compensate for the victim?s medical expenses, lost wages, and emotional suffering. We hope this webinar will be the opportunity for all victims to decide the best course of legal action for them and their families.?"
