Gialone says Nonna Rosa's menu is a family recipe. In truth, Nonna Rosa Italian Restaurant originated many years ago in Pozzuoli, on Italy's southern coast. "Well-loved recipes are passed down through generations, with each new generation contributing their particular skills and variations," he added.

Another favorite is their Spaghetti Vongole, a pasta dish with Mediterranean little neck clams sautéed with fresh garlic and cherry tomatoes in a delicious white wine sauce. Just a light and simple dish.

Another star of the menu is their Veal Picatta, a fresh veal pounded thin, sautéed with capers and artichokes in a lemon sauce. Those who can't get enough meat also go for Veal Parmigiana, veal pounded thin and lightly breaded, baked to perfection, and topped with a marinara sauce and mozzarella.
