September 08, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Art of Dentistry, based in Virginia Beach, VA, is pleased to announce that they have a new signage office. More information on this recent development and the clinic's other announcements can be found at the following link: <https://theartofdentistryvb.com/>.

The Art of Dentistry considers their team a tool through which they deliver both unparalleled dental care as well as a thoroughly satisfying patient experience. By catering to multiple communities, the clinic seeks to bring their exemplary services to as many people as possible. It's patients can always rely on the team at The Art of Dentistry to care after their every dental need.

"Great dentistry is an art form," the clinic states, "and patient care is an intrinsic aspect of this art. While much of our work revolves around ensuring that our patients have healthy teeth, we also understand that a great smile can go a long way in improving their confidence in themselves and, by extension, the rest of their lives. A good smile is a work of art, and you will find no better artisans than our staff."

One treatment the clinic is currently promoting that can significantly boost a patient's smile is CEREC, an innovative type of dental crown that can be affixed within the space of a single appointment. This technology allows the clinic to create fully personalized dental crowns and veneers on-site, which means the patient no longer has to wait while a distant lab creates and delivers their crowns. According to The Art of Dentistry, a patient might arrive at the clinic with overly sensitive teeth and multiple cavities only to leave later the same day with a full set of fully functioning and beautiful teeth. This is only one of the services the clinic offers, and patients can expect access to a comprehensive range of care options when they visit.

The clinic's high estimation of its own abilities is backed up by overwhelmingly positive patient feedback on numerous platforms. On The Art of Dentistry's official profile, for instance, the clinic has earned a full 5-Star rating, which is put into perspective by the fact that this rating has been aggregated over more than 700 reviews. As any business can attest, this is no small feat.

Individual reviews also serve to highlight exactly what the dental care provider does to earn this glowing praise. For instance, a review from Megan A. shares, "I was a patient of Dr. Horwitz for as long as I can remember. I have also seen Dr. Dorfman a few times. My dental hygienist, Lissi, was always a joy to see. The Art of Dentistry team is so friendly, knowledgeable, and thorough. I recently moved to NY, so I, unfortunately, had to get a new dentist, as it was not reasonable to drive eight hours for an appointment. My new dentist was so pleased to see how detailed my history was at The Art of Dentistry and to see the amazing service they've provided me over the past several years. I couldn't recommend The Art of Dentistry enough!?"

Another long-standing patient explains that their experience with the clinic's services was so positive that they were encouraged to improve their dental care schedule. The review from Jackson B. says, "Went for my regular cleaning appointment with Jenny Ross. I had another good checkup and cleaning Tuesday. I am now on cleanings every four months instead of every three months because I am using my electric toothbrush twice every day for at least two minutes each time. Jenny always gives me good feedback on how well I am brushing, flossing, water picking, and gargling. Thanks for taking good care of my teeth for the last 18 years.?"

Patients are welcome to get in touch with Sandra Anderson of The Art of Dentistry to make further inquiries or schedule an appointment in the near future. The clinic also makes it a point to share patient success stories through their Facebook Page, which may provide further insight into their practices.
