August 26, 2021 -
Baltimore, Maryland - Xpress Exterior Design: Baltimore Roofing Company, a prominent name in commercial and residential roofing space in Baltimore, proudly announces the launch of their newly redesigned website with new features, updated product information, and easier navigation to company and industry information. The newly designed website is designed to offer a seamless, user-friendly experience to the company's commercial and residential clients across Maryland.

Xpress Exterior Design: Baltimore Roofing Company's revamped website focuses on enhanced user experience to help developers, homeowners, roofers, designers, builders, and property managers find the information they need with ease. The company's new website features updated content, including detailed sections on roof repair, roof replacement, storm damage repairs, and commercial roofing.

The users can easily navigate through the various roofing services offered by Xpress Exterior Design, including residential roofing, commercial roofing, window replacement, siding replacement, gutter replacement, and a section on various roofing types.

The wide array of information on the company's revamped website highlights the basic vitals clients look for before making a purchasing decision. It includes an exhaustive portfolio of projects the company has completed in Baltimore and surrounding areas, highlighting the expertise, experience, and quality of work more prominently. Moreover, the educational content on the website answers many of the customers' common questions, including various types of roofing materials, their advantages and disadvantages, and other common roofing issues.

One of the website's unique features includes the ability to schedule a free inspection by simply filling up an online form. These latest features aim to improve the convenience offered to the customers, enrich their overall experience with the company, and stay in tune with the highest industry standards.

Categorizing the information for easier navigation depending on the type of property and roofing material will address the many common issues customers previously faced. Xpress Exterior Design's new website also showcases the history of the company and the collective experience of its team, spanning over five decades.

Customer service is at the forefront of the company's priority. It is visible in its new website that allows customers to call the company directly or get in touch via the 'Contact' form. The newly built website is SSL Privacy Protected, ensuring the customers don't have to worry about the security and safety of the data and contact information they share.

"With our newly redesigned website, we aim to make it easier for our customers to access the information they need through a clean and aesthetically pleasing interface. The latest features added to our website will make it simpler for existing and potential clients to navigate through the wide spectrum of our commercial and residential roofing services, roofing materials we work with, and gain updated news and information about roofing industry," said Tinos Marketis, co-owner at Xpress Exterior Design.

"One of the features in our new website we're really excited about is the ability to schedule appointments directly through the website. We hope it will help our clients looking for free inspection, consultation, and roofing services. We've many other features in the pipeline like call-back feature, live chat, etc., to further enhance the experience we offer here at Xpress Exterior Design," added Melissa Marketis, one of the owners.

Xpress Exterior Design: Baltimore Roofing Company will be regularly updating its website with news articles, blogs, newsletters, industry events information, company announcements. The company's new website is responsively designed for a seamless experience on tablets, smartphones, laptops, and desktops.
