August 30, 2021 -
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania ? After buying a new property in Philadelphia, Jackson realized that the previous owner had not clipped his hedge for a long time. The entire hedge was overgrown and made the entire home look unattractive. Being a new owner, Jackson asked around for a good company that could help him improve the hedge. When several neighbors recommended Philadelphia Tree Service Experts, he decided to hire the company for the project.

?When I called them this morning,? said Jackson, ?I did not expect them to respond this quickly. However, they promised to be here in a few hours and they kept their word. They inspected my hedge and then gave me a very fair quote. After three hours of hard work, I couldn?t even recognize my hedge. They trimmed it and shaped the entire thing into something that one can feel comfortable looking at for hours. I cannot thank these guys enough.?

?Hedges form one of the best privacy screens,? said the company?s chief of field operations, ?But since they are always growing, they need regular trimming to keep their branches from overgrowing and making the hedge look unkempt and ugly. When Jackson invited us this morning, we knew that he would be surprised with the difference that a professionally conducted hedge clipping would create. We are really happy to see that he was impressed with our hedge clipping service.?
