Queens, NY ? August 31, 2021?One Source Media, a Queens, New York car wrap and vinyl printing company, announced that it has completed renovations of its newest College Point location. Brian Miranda, founder and owner of the company, says that the College Point shop features 2 remodeled offices and about 1,600 square feet of workfloor space for doing vinyl graphics, fleet wraps, bus wrap advertising, and other types of vinyl installation in-shop.

?We?ve spent weeks refurbishing this facility,? Miranda notes, ?and we?re proud to say it?s something we can show off to any customer.? With new flooring, paint, and other enhancements, the space is unrecognizable from its previous condition.

The College Point location houses the company?s 3 large format vinyl printers: a Roland printer, a Mutoh printer, and a Mimaki printer. These printers can accommodate vinyl graphics of virtually any size and scale, from stadium wrap graphics to bus wrap advertising and box truck graphics.

One Source Media also does remote vinyl wrap work as the situation demands. ?If you need a car wrap,? notes Miranda, ?we?d do that here in the shop. But for a lot of other projects, the work can?t come to us, so we go to it.? For projects involving storefront graphics, vinyl murals, or other architectural vinyl wraps, the One Source Media crew prints the vinyl graphics at the College Point location and transports the material on-site for installation.

The College Point location, One Source Media Vinyl Wraps, is located at 14-157 110th St. ?We want customers to come see what we?ve got here,? Miranda says. ?If you have a car, truck, van, or RV that you?re considering getting vinyl wrapped, bring it by. We can look at your vehicle and give you an estimate, and you can see our new shop space!?
