Spectra Baby USA is a women-owned, privately held, importer and distributor of top quality, high-performing breast pumps, and accessories that is headquartered in South Florida. The company makes its products available through major e-commerce providers, big-box retailers, distributors of medical equipment, and lactation centers. The company makes use of its unique Natural Nursing Technology which allows it to manufacture breast pumps that use a gentle ?suckling? pumping pattern. The company says on its website that its mission is to help nursing mothers and their babies get off to the best start possible. It has been operational since 2011 and has succeeded in its mission by providing productive, comfortable, and successful pumping sessions for countless moms around the nation.

Insurance Covered Breast Pumps? Spectra Baby USA offerings include the Spectra S2 Plus Electric Breast Pump, Spectra S1 Plus Electric Breast Pump, Spectra 9 Plus Breast Pump, Spectra Synergy Gold Electric Breast Pump, and the Spectra CaraCups.

The Spectra S2 Plus Electric Breast Pump is quiet and discreet for soothing pumping and weighs only 3 lbs. It boasts of features such as a massage mode that simulates the natural suckling of a baby, an ultra-quiet motor that operates at 45 decibels (as quiet as the hush of a library), a backflow protector that protects the breastmilk from harmful bacteria, adjustable suction levels which provide a more natural flow of milk, a night light that allows easy pumping at any hour, and an auto-timer with a display that offers visibility and precision with every session.

The Spectra Synergy Gold Electric Breast Pump offers the most advanced and up-to-date technology in the industry. The Synergy Gold is the first pump of its kind that allows moms to adjust each side independently (up to 270 mmHg on each side). Like all Spectra pumps, the SG is a truly closed system, creating a hygienic barrier between outside contaminates and mother?s milk. The pump?s advanced technology promotes more productive pumping sessions that can save time with comfort and ease. The LED lamp shines a mild indirect soothing 3 level illumination night light for breastfeeding in dark rooms and as a sleep lamp.

The Spectra CaraCups make hands-free pumping safe, convenient, and easy. They are a truly closed system and are compatible with all Spectra breast pumps. Spectra CaraCups are placed in the bra, allowing moms to express breastmilk hands-free. Once the breastmilk has been collected, transferring it is easy and sanitary. Spectra CaraCups are available in 24mm and 28mm sizes.

Insurance Covered Breast Pumps is a MedSource, LLC company committed to helping moms qualify for a breast pump through insurance. The company offers the top brands of breast pumps including Medela, Spectra, Lansinoh, Ameda, and others. The company is accredited by the Joint Commission. It says that it takes pride in supporting mothers through the Affordable Care Act (ACA), which requires health plans to cover breastfeeding support and supplies. The company tries to ensure that mothers get the best quality breast pumps and supplies with little or no out-of-pocket cost. The company is contracted with most commercial insurance companies and will help the mother choose the right breast pump that is covered by her health insurance plan. The company says that it will work with the mother?s insurance company to determine benefits for her insurance-covered breast pump and file an insurance claim on her behalf. The company will then obtain a prescription from her doctor to meet the requirements of her health insurance provider. If the mother?s insurance company does not cover a breast pump, the company will work with her to find an affordable option.

Those interested in availing of the services offered by Insurance Covered Breast Pumps can fill out the Qualify Through Insurance form on its website, following which the company will contact the applicant?s insurance to verify coverage and submit all required paperwork on their behalf.
