At Approved Contractor, we know that California residents want to be confident homeowners and have energy-efficient homes, the company states. The problem: their home exterior is failing or needs an upgrade and they don't know a siding, window or texture coating contractor they can trust, which is frustrating. You shouldn't have to put up with a home that you're unsatisfied with. As homeowners ourselves, we understand how apprehensive you can feel when hiring a contractor to fix your home. That's why we've created a reliable process that's helped over 3,000 homeowners in the greater Los Angeles and San Diego areas have a home exterior that withstands the test of time.

Contractor."

Approved Contractor is on a mission to help Southern California homeowners improve the energy efficiency of their homes by installing new siding, vinyl windows and texture coating. The attributes of Approved Contractor earned them a top spot on the Qualified Remodeler's Top 500 list for several years in a row and contributes to their success.

This glowing reputation is supported by the communities they work with, as can be seen from the many top rated reviews the team has amassed on various platforms over the years. An excerpt from a 5-Star Google review from Krystina Snyder states, "Working with Approved Contractor was great. They were very professional, and after getting four different quotes, they came in right in the center and seemed the most reasonable. Jared guarantees his work for four years. I had six windows and a sliding glass door. The foreman, Lalo, worked with one other person to get this all done in one day. He was very friendly, professional and put up with all my questions throughout the day. I would highly recommend Approved Contractor."

According to the company, the team takes it upon themselves to ensure that their community gets every ounce of effort they deserve no matter how big or small a remodeling project may be. A home is always one of the most important aspects of a client's life, so Approved Contractor takes their work extremely seriously. In addition to producing great results, the company believes that this approach also contributed to their position in Qualified Remodeler's Top 500 contractors.
