

Ninja Plumbers is Offering Plumbing Services in South Melbourne

September 30, 2021

Melbourne, Victoria - September 30, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Ninja Plumbers is providing plumbing installation and repair services in South Melbourne. The company is now accepting appointments from customers facing a wide range of plumbing problems.

A home's plumbing is one of its most vital components. Failing pipes may seem like a minor inconvenience at first but if the problem is left unchecked, the leaking water can spread into the property's structure, weakening it from the inside and leading to irreparable structural damage. Homeowners need to be always vigilant for telltale signs of plumbing problems such as leaks, drains that are working slower than usual, wet and moist wall surfaces, and more. Once the problem has been identified, it is time to refer to a qualified and experienced plumber who can pinpoint the exact plumbing subsystem that is failing and implement a long-term fix that solves the problem for good.

In Victoria, the plumbing industry is regulated to ensure that the contractors who are hired to fix a home's plumbing issues are guaranteed to have a minimum level of competency in their craft. It is required that all Victoria plumbers be qualified, licensed, and registered with the Victorian Building Authority (VBA). All learners have to spend 4 years in an apprenticeship where they learn from the plumbers who are far more experienced than them and have the skills to solve the problems that they are likely to encounter on a job site. Customers can always find qualified plumbers in South Melbourne but there is no guarantee that the plumbers will be professional in their conduct or leave the customer satisfied.

Ninja Plumbers goes above and beyond the state-mandated qualification requirement by only hiring plumbers who are not just good at what they do but do so with the flair of seasoned professionals. Ninja Plumbers only hires plumbers who are capable of solving any problem that a homeowner throws at them while sticking to strict Australian plumbing standards. The result is a high-performing team that will leave no stone unturned to make sure that whatever plumbing problem that the homeowner or business owner is facing, is solved using industry-standard techniques and high-quality materials so that the fix stands the test of time.

Speaking about the company's dedication to customer service, a representative for the company says, "We are more than just technically proficient at what we do. We are dedicated to the customer. We offer them the complete package when it comes to hiring a plumbing company. We are well aware that not all customers are alike and they may have different levels of comfort with the science of plumbing. We make sure to bring all of our clients up to speed with our work by carefully explaining our job at the level that they are comfortable with. We listen to all of their problems, perform our initial inspection, and then propose an honest and fairly priced solution to them. If they are on board, we get to work fast and complete the job as promised within budget and within the stipulated time. We also give regular updates on the progress so that you and our team are always on the same page. We manage to do all of this with a smile, making sure you are happy with the work every step of the way. We will never give you a chance to complain. So contact us today and find out why homeowners and businesses all over South Melbourne love our services so much."
