As the primary sponsor of AbuseGuardian.com and the Abuse Guardian for Pennsylvania, Brian Kent, Esq. gives an inside scoop on how sexual assault lawyers are chosen to represent AbuseGuardian.com. ?The criteria in choosing new members for our national network of sex abuse attorneys are not extensive but thorough. AbuseGuardian.com vow to dedicate our time to protecting people and helping victims and survivors of sexual abuse get the justice they deserve. So applicants must exhibit the same qualities. Our review process evaluates the number of sexual abuse cases the attorneys have handled, the years of experience they?ve had in handling these cases, the number of awards won by the law firm, the settlements and verdicts that have been reported, reviews written by clients, community involvement, and memberships at specific industry organizations.?

Brian Kent, Esq. has had 15 years of legal experience and is a member of the American Association of Justice, Pennsylvania Association of Justice, Million Dollar Advocate Forums, and Pennsylvania Trial Lawyers Association, among many others. The former sex crimes prosecutor has taken on a number of high profile cases locally and nationally and has done speaking engagements at the Survivors Network of those Abused by Priests Conference, National Crime Victim Bar Association Annual Conference, and more.
