

Entrepreneur Celebrates Launch Of Amazing Selling Machine With Powerful Bonuses

October 07, 2015

October 07, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Amazing Selling Machine, the most popular and successful online course in it's field, announced the launch of their new course, ASM 6, today. Course creators, Jason Katzenback and Matt Clark, started the Amazing Academy to empower entrepreneurs to harness the Amazon platform for their businesses. The Amazing Selling Machine has been doing just that for years, launching many successful Amazon sellers during it's heralded tenure.

This latest installment comes with a facelift of features, to adapt to the ever-changing Amazon marketplace and stay ahead of the hundreds of competing companies that have cropped up in the wake of the success of Amazing Selling Machine. These new features include four additional modules of instruction and updated software and tools, while retaining the benefits of an active Amazon seller community and mentors, as well as the personalized support.

The business model is simple; select a product to sell, find a manufacturer, brand the product with original packaging and logos, send to Amazon. At this point, the process is simplified by Amazon's powerful FBA (Fulfilled By Amazon) feature. FBA allows sellers to ship all their inventory to a warehouse where Amazon will then fulfill all incoming orders on the sellers behalf. This eliminates the barrier of needing warehouse space and workers for fulfilling orders.

Many successful sellers have graduated the ASM program with high regard for the content of the training. Several such sellers are now advocates for the newest installment of the course via the amazing.com affiliate program. These affiliates are encouraged to add their own spin to the value of the Amazing Selling Machine course by offering exclusive bonuses and additional training.

One such affiliate, PreXpresso.com, has even gone so far as to completely redesign their website for the duration of the ASM launch. Their homepage states, "We've Been Hijacked?". The co-founder of PReXpresso, Caleb Allen, commented on the importance of ASM in his own life, "Our company is in full support of this new launch. ASM has been a powerful, life-changing opportunity for me. I wouldn't want anyone to miss out on this."

Allen has designed his ASM bonus package, worth more than $8000, with a different theme than many affiliates. "When I first started on Amazon, I had information overload and people always trying to sell me the greatest new thing to help my business?", Allen stated, "That's not as helpful as it could be. For someone just starting out, they only need what they need and nothing more. Anything else, just slows you down." The PReXpresso Amazing Selling Machine bonus package includes free subscriptions to the industry's leading paid tools for Amazon sellers, as well as personalized coaching and training from the PReXpresso team.

With worldwide e-commerce expected to double over the next ten years, from just over $4bil. to a whopping $8bil, the time has never been more perfect to begin selling online. With this new Amazing Selling Machine launch closing on October 15 at 11:59pm PST, your window of opportunity to get your share might just be now.
