Safina Cabinetry, a company based in St Charles, MO, is pleased to announce that their custom cabinetry that were only available in the St. Louis area under the brand name of Centorbi, is now available for residents of Indianapolis, IN, and surrounding areas. The Centorbi brand has always been known for the quality of its custom cabinetry through the use of the best quality materials and the use accurate craftsmanship. Those who would like to be more familiar with the Centorbi brand can check out https://www.centorbi.com/.

Derek Centorbi, the founder of Centorbi Cabinetry, says, ?I will never forget the lesson I learned as a young boy, which is that cabinets provided by large manufacturers often fail to live up to customers? expectations. That was my motivation for establishing the Centorbi brand in 1995, which from the start was always focused on real craftsmanship, innovation, and the use of cabinetmaking to achieve people?s dreams. While we both provide our custom cabinets to both residential and commercial clients, we find fulfilment in helping homeowners realize their dreams of having an astounding kitchen with well-fitted cabinetry.?

Custom cabinets are desirable for homeowners and other property owners who want classy-looking kitchens, bedrooms, living rooms, and other parts of the home or office. This is because the custom cabinets have the exact measurements that allow them to fit snugly into their specific place in the bedroom, kitchen, and more. There would be no cabinets that are noticeably too small or too large, making them look awkward and possibly damage the overall aesthetic appearance of the room.

Custom cabinets are a necessary part of the kitchen because they are used to store various delicate items, such as dishes, silverware, various kitchen tools. Aside from that, they can be mounted on the floor or on the ceiling and can be designed aesthetically to make the kitchen more classy and more pleasing to the eye. When customers order custom cabinetry, they can specify certain features, including the door styles, the organization method, finishes, and various design elements. The experts from Centorbi will conduct measurements where the custom cabinet will be positioned and the cabinet will then be manufactured in their facilities and once complete, the cabinet is assembled and installed onsite. Derek Centorbi has developed a reputation of being a leader when it comes to custom cabinets. He is a member of the National Kitchen and Bath Association (NKBA), the Certified Builders Guild (CBG), and The Cabinetmakers Association (CMA). Centorbi offers the Innovations cabinetry line for people who want cabinets that use an antique style with ornate carvings of a conventional appearance. For those who want a sleek and contemporary style, they have the Slimline cabinetry line.

Some clients have expressed their satisfaction with the quality of the Centorbi custom cabinets by leaving five-star reviews. For example, Clay H. gave them five stars and said, ?We've now used Derek and Centorbi Cabinetry on two different houses and expect to again. We literally used them to do every single cabinet in every room in our new house and all the closets. We found the Centorbi team to be one of, if not the, best subs on our entire new construction project. Everything was on time and on budget ... and looks great. In our prior house (a remodel), Derek and team had to work within the existing building space and had some challenges to overcome, which they did with ease. The quality is very high and the price is reasonable - the perfect combination for a good value. Hard to overestimate how happy we were with their work.?
