Lexington, Kentucky ? After noticing an increase in the number of property owners requesting tree services in Lexington, Lexington Tree Experts has decided to invest in a project management department. According to the company?s CEO, the new department will be handling all tree service requests and then scheduling them in order of urgency.

?When a client picks up his phone and calls our offices,? said the company?s CEO, ?he wants to get tree care as soon as possible ? immediately if possible. However, because of the number of tree service requests we get daily, some of our clients may need to wait for some time. Our project management department will be scheduling our services, ensuring that the wait time does not stretch too far ? this will help us ensure that our clients are not thinking that we forgot about their request.?

Established close to 30 years ago, Lexington Tree Experts has managed to expand its services over the years and is now able to cover all types of tree care procedures. The best tree removal company Lexington, the company's team of tree cutting professionals Lexington can turn the most complicated tree service removal Lexington procedures into safe, non-risky projects. The company's tree trimming team Lexington helps homeowners improve the aesthetic appeal, and hence the overall value of their commercial and residential properties.
