Island Nutrition, a family-owned American company that has specialized in producing premium natural supplements for over 25 years, is offering Olive Leaf Extract capsules.

The company offers products that make use of the world's finest olive extracts and oregano oil extracts. It prides itself on using only traditional, chemical-free extraction methods to preserve the utmost integrity of the plants' many active constituents. To achieve a pure end-product, the natural botanical extracts are produced in a state-of-the-art processing facility near the family farms. The company has sight of every stage of production from start to finish from the ground up.

The precious raw ingredients are 100% grown, harvested, and extracted in Spain under extraordinary conditions, having been grown without pesticides and derived from centuries-old family farms in Andalusia Spain, the world's premier region for olives, olive oil, and oregano the world over. The extracts are then shipped to state-of-the-art FDA compliant, GMP manufacturing facilities in the US for encapsulating and bottling for distribution to happy customers worldwide.

The company also solves another glaring problem that is evident in its competition products. Olive extract supplements are not always standardized. Even if they are standardized, they are done so only for Oleuropein, a natural phytonutrient best known for its blood pressure-lowering effect. However, there are many other beneficial polyphenols in the olive tree that go unextracted and unutilized. Island Nutrition solves this issue by offering a holistic Olive Leaf Extract standardized to include at least 25% pure Oleuropein while retaining a broad spectrum of other olive polyphenols and phytonutrients.

The company also offers an Olive Fruit Extract standardized to contain at least 16% pure Hydroxytyrosol and at least 20% of total Hydroxytyrosol Complex. The Hydroxytyrosol Complex is an umbrella term meant to refer to both Hydroxytyrosol and related polyphenols, such as Tyrosol, Oleacein, and Oleocanthal. All of the company's extracts are 100% natural, and there is some variation from batch to batch, but they will always contain at least the declared amounts.

Speaking on the company's production process, a spokesperson for the company says, "We are excited to bring the benefits of the natural ingredients to our loyal customers. We want to improve their lives by extracting and packaging the rich tapestry of nutrients that have been bestowed upon this wonderful fruit in a convenient manner. We realize that we need to maintain high holistic integrity and excellence throughout the production process to make sure we extract every last drop of goodness. As stewards of these extraordinary ingredients, we recognize our duty to perform our due diligence in picking the choicest produce and subjecting it to our gentle extraction process that preserves the integrity of its most beneficial components. We are able to meet this challenge by maintaining very high standards of purity. State-of-the-art facilities also allow us to provide our customers the best value for the dollar. You cannot go wrong with any of the products in our stacked line-up."

Island Nutrition has been manufacturing and making available premium natural supplements since 1995. The company says that its passion is to help people live healthy and abundant lives by bringing them together with holistic, minimally processed natural health products. The company operates in a completely earth-friendly and sustainable manner. Though the company procures the highest quality products from all around the world, it is still wholly US-owned and US-based.

Apart from the Spanish Olive Leaf Extract capsules product that offers 25% Natural Oleuropein and 20% Hydroxytyrosol Complex, the company also manufactures the Spanish Olive Fruit Extract that is rich in natural Hydroxytyrosol Complex, the Spanish 100% Organic Oregano Oil Liquid Drops offering natural Carvacrol (also available in capsule form), the Spanish Oregano Oil Liquid-Filled Vegetarian Capsules containing natural Carvacrol, also containing 100% Organic Spanish Extra-Virgin Olive Oil, and the 100% Organic Sunflower Seed Lecithin that is available in an easy-to-swallow Self-Emulsifying Delivery System (S.E.E.D.S).
