Long Island, NY-- Being charged with a crime in New York can have serious consequences. Few people know this better than New York criminal defense lawyer Jason Bassett. The effects of being convicted of a crime can be severe and can often even alter the trajectory of a person's whole life. Mr. Bassett believes that nobody ought to face the criminal justice system alone and without the benefit of a knowledgeable and experienced criminal defense lawyer.

As a knowledgeable criminal defense lawyer, Mr. Bassett knows that the quality of criminal defense that an individual gets if they are charged with a crime can make a big difference. Whether the charges get dismissed, downgraded, a plea deal is presented, or if they wind up in jail or prison and for what the length of time, can often depend on the work of their defense attorney. Whether an individual has actually been charged with break-in, assault, homicide, domestic violence, and even a DWI or DUI, a criminal charge and conviction can haunt them for years to come. This is why it is vital to have the representation of someone with the knowledge, experience, and perseverance to fight for the defendant's rights.

"While criminal penalties and prison time are hard enough, the way criminal convictions and charges impact the rest of that defendant's life can be equally devastating," said Mr. Bassett. "An accused can be punished and serve their time, and yet for the rest of their life, there is a reminder that they are still thought of a criminal in society's eyes. A criminal charge can affect a person's future employment, academic options, professional licenses and accreditations, and involvement in particular federal government programs. Each time that individual obtains a job, the potential company will take a look at them in a different way. A well-crafted criminal defense is crucial to protect my customers not only from the criminal punishment itself but likewise these other long-lasting collateral repercussions."

As a former district attorney, Mr. Bassett has seen the other side of the criminal justice system and the way many suspects feel they lack power within the system. He has turned his sights to criminal defense in order to level the playing field and safeguard the rights of those who may have been charged at both the state and federal levels. Both clients and other attorneys continue to offer favorable reviews and testimonials when it comes to their work together.

Block Sullivan from New York states: "Working with Mr. Bassett was a great experience. If you're seeking a criminal defense attorney that is dedicated, smart, genuine, and caring then look no further. Atty. Jason was extremely transparent the entire time. He was responsive to my inquiries and was patient with me. He was understanding of my situation and didn't judge me. He is a really great person hands down."

In our legal justice system, a defendant has important rights under the law, and it is the criminal defense lawyer's job to maintain those rights. With more than twenty-one years in the criminal justice system, Mr. Bassett has devoted his practice to protecting the rights of his clients in and out of the courtroom.
