September 17, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

PRO-TECH Design & Manufacturing, Inc., a medical device packaging and manufacturing company based in Santa Fe Springs, CA, has formed a new partnership with the search engine optimization agency, Bliss Drive. Bliss Drive, which is based out of offices in Irvine, CA and Los Angeles, CA, is seeking to help boost PRO-TECH's digital marketing efforts and online visibility.

PRO-TECH Design specializes in medical device assembly, packaging and manufacturing.

According to their Medical Device Contract Packaging page, "PRO-TECH provides full-service contract manufacturing services to the medical device market, including contract assembly and contract packaging in [their] ISO 13485 registered facilities." Their facilities boast "over 6,000 square feet of certified Class 10,000 Cleanroom space dedicated to medical device packaging, assembly and kitting," which allows them to deliver products that "can be cleaned, assembled, packaged and labeled in the same facility, ensuring the highest level of quality."

PRO-TECH's services also include its own in-house ISO 17025 certified laboratory to provide packaging validation services on-site. This allows them to save clients time and money, while also providing a seamless and holistic development and testing process from start to finish.

PRO-TECH Design is also an ISO 13485 certified medical sewing contractor that handles the development of sewn medical products such as cases, vests and other wearables from product design to sample production to full-scale manufacturing. They regularly develop custom solutions to meet the unique needs of medical device OEMs and their patients.
