EPS Landscaping & Tree Service LLC offers various kinds of landscaping services. These include: tropical landscaping, pool landscaping, landscape installation, hardscaping, retainer walls installation, sod installation, landscape maintenance, and commercial landscaping.

Tropical landscaping is appropriate for Florida because of its humid climate. Popular characteristics of this kind of landscaping include large and vibrant leaves; lava rock; water features such as small waterfall or a pool; and island decor like tiki torches or hanging lights. For such landscaping, it would be a great idea to purchase plants that are locally sourced from the Pembroke Pines area. Plants that are suited to low-water tropical environments, such as daylilies, plumeria, birds of paradise, zephyranthes, and rose of sharon are some of the plants that can be used in tropical landscaping. It is also a good idea to place those plants with similar watering needs together in order to save on water consumption. Natural grass may also be used instead of artificial grass. An automatic irrigation system with a rain sensor can save water during rainy weather.

Another important feature of homes in Florida is the backyard swimming pool. Most in-ground pools in the area usually lack landscaping but this is an important way to beautify the home and it also offers an easy way to introduce privacy to a pool area. Tropical landscaping would naturally complement pool landscaping. Tropical plants will not just improve the aesthetics of the pool area but they are also usually low-maintenance. By getting the services of a landscaping professional, homeowners and other property owners would be able not just to enhance how the pool looks but it will also meet their needs. It is important to opt for landscaping features that are low-maintenance, won?t act as tripping hazards near the pool, and are safe around kids and pets. By choosing the appropriate plants, pool landscaping can also provide both shade and privacy.

Hardscaping may also be provided by EPS Landscaping & Tree Service. It has to do with planning how physical decorative objects should be placed or arranged in a particular outdoor space. This includes patios, walkways, driveways, and fences. Hardscaping an outdoor area offers various advantages, including the prevention of soil erosion, reduction of the number of plants that have to be watered, and the addition of color and dimension to the aesthetics of the area. Some of the landscaping services EPS can help with include: garden paving, garden benches, water fountains, gazebos, retainer walls, outdoor fire pits and fireplaces, permeable pavers, and decorative rock.

EPS can also help with the installation of retainer walls that prevent soil and plants from getting out of their designated places on the terrain. Metal, stones, concrete, or wood can be used in building retainer walls, simultaneously providing an artistic atmosphere and confining runaway plant life for a specific outdoor space.
