Dallas, Texas - September 24, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Widdlytinks is a company that has become well-known for creating canvas wall art prints that are unique in every aspect of them. A good example of this is Halloween signs by Widdlytinks. They will help any room decorated for All Hallows Eve feel a little bit creepier when someone walks into it. This has helped Widdlytinks Halloween Wall Art Collection become one of their best-selling seasonal offerings year after year. A few of their Halloween wall art prints can even have customization added to them. Something that very few, if any, other decorative canvas art print companies offer.

Amy Anderson, a representative of Widdlytinks, says, "When you walk into someone's home around Halloween you probably don't get too excited about the hanging skeletons, witch pinups, or plastic pumpkins full of candy. Now imagine these same rooms with a decorative wall art print that fits the occasion and makes them come to life in the true spirit of Halloween. That's exactly why our Halloween Wall Art has become such a popular choice for those that want to really set the tone by making any room feel a little spookier. The long-running popularity of our Halloween Wall Art Collection is why we try to add something new and unique to this seasonal collection every single year."

The company representative went on to say that although they have a lot of fun with their Halloween Wall Art Collection, the same effort goes into them as with any other of their unique wall art prints. That includes every design that's available on Widdlytinks being meticulously created with care and attention to detail using the unique perspective of an award-winning artist with over 20 years of experience in this particular wall art design niche. She added that they have even used Halloween decoration ideas from some of their customers to come up with some of the new prints that have been added to the collection. Anderson went on to talk about some of her personal favorites in the collection. This includes the Nightshade Potion Shop Creepy Gothic Halloween Sign, Anatomical Skeleton Vintage Halloween Art, and Hocus Pocus Black & White Creepy Skull Art. She stated that she feels the Black Cat Apothecary Vintage Style Halloween Sign, Spooky Old Salem Cemetery Halloween Sign, and Vintage Gothic Full Moon Apothecary Halloween Sign are also great room mood-setters for the occasion. There is also the unique Industrial Gothic Family Boulevard Halloween black or white signs that can be personalized with a family's name.

Anderson went on to add that just because these are fun-type room wall art pieces does not mean that they are not well made. Each print is placed carefully placed on non-yellowing, archival-grade canvas for durability, and all of the frames that they come mounted on include pine stretcher bars to prevent warping. Each print is also ready to hand thanks to its attached sawtooth hanger. She also pointed out some of their other very popular seasonal offerings. This includes the company's Valentine's Day, Christmas, Spring, and Easter wall art. Their Christian-themed personalized wall signs are also very popular items around Easter and other times of the year.

The company representative is proud of the fact that personalized canvas wall art from them offers a versatile option that tends to make a big impact on any colored blank wall. The fact that many of their canvas art prints can be personalized only serves to make them more unique. They are often given as wedding, housewarming, new baby, Father's Day, and Mother's Day gifts. Some of the personalization's offered include family names, individual names, year families are established, and state & city customizations. Widdlytinks wall art also can be purchased in a wide variety of sizes including large formats. All of this helps make Widdlytinks artwork distinctive & exclusive and great for both home and business settings.
