October 15, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Borolux Bakeware recently released a 9.5 inch deep dish pie plate, and since its launch several weeks ago, the company has noted that they have been receiving rave reviews from their customers, and that sales of the product have increased significantly. A company spokesperson states, "We released our pie dish in time for the upcoming Thanksgiving season, because we knew that customers would love it for their pumpkin and other holiday pies."

Their classic pie dish is made from a patented shatterproof borosilicate glass formula, which the company states is one thing that makes it so unique. Jennay, a customer who purchased the pie plate on Amazon states, "I really love this pie plate and plan on gifting it to some of my friends/family for Christmas this year. It's a perfect gift for someone who is moving into a new home, getting married, or just as a friendly new neighbor gift! Make a pie and give it as a gift along with the pie plate including a recipe card containing the pie recipe!"

Borolux Bakeware declares that they couldn't be more pleased that their customers appreciate the pie plate. They point out that they simply wanted to create the perfect pie dish, and that the design element of the plate is the one thing that really impresses customers, based on the feedback that they have been receiving. Customers are particularly pleased with the sturdiness and weight, the beautiful fluted edges and the depth of the dish, making it a true deep dish pie plate.

Borolux uses a patented and original shatter-proof borosilicate glass formula, making it a much safer choice than other glass bakeware that is made of soda-lime glass, particularly when used at high temperatures. The company spokesperson explained that glassware made from soda-lime glass is very cheap to produce and can be dangerous because of the possibility of shattering or exploding. "Thousands of consumers report being injured by shattering soda-lime bakeware requiring emergency room treatment each year," states the company spokesperson. "There is absolutely no reason for this to happen. Our goal is to change the way Americans are baking by offering our safe and shatter-proof bakeware products."
