October 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

We $hare Crowd Funding has announced a program that can enable consumers to get out of debt. With the assistance of crowd funding, individuals have been reporting instances where they are paying off all of their personal debt and beginning to save for the future. Shaun Mabry, spokesperson for We $hare Crowd Funding, states, "Our goal is to help as many people as we can to get out from under mounds of personal debt. We're pleased to announce that we are beginning to receive feedback from people on the program, telling us that they are all paid off."

Crowd funding is a platform, which is available on a global level that enables anyone to share their financial dreams. The community then helps individuals to raise funds to help meet those dreams. "It's so easy," states on community member. "I was able to raise enough money to pay off medical bills, and now we can begin to plan for buying our first home."

Shaun Mabry explains that this is just one of the success stories he has heard. He states that anyone can join the community, which allows individuals to support any project that they need funding for. The company was formed with the goal of helping people enjoy their lives without the worries that stress due to financial problems can bring. He says, "We just want people to be able to enjoy family time, enjoy vacations, generally enjoy living without all that debt piling up on them."

By leveraging the power of community sharing, the company can help consumers to reach their financial goals, and eventually live debt free. The company states that they have had more than ten community members so far to contact them stating that they have completely paid off their debt or funded a special project, with the help of the crowd funding platform.
