October 01, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Supremia Dentistry has revealed that patients of the dental office will get the benefit of getting the services of Dr. Edmond Suh, an elite dentist in Wake Forest, NC, having been named Wake Living's Top Dentist each year since 2012. They also offer a state-of-the-art dental facility that includes the latest advanced technological developments and luxurious amenities. These high tech treatments include: laser dentistry, digital photography, digital impressioning, and Myo Tronics equipment. For cosmetic technology, they also utilize various technologies, such as metal free technology, orthodontic technology, whitening technology, and laser contouring technology.

Supremia Dentistry offers a range of dental services. These include: cosmetic dentistry; TMJ / headaches; dental implants; family dentistry; relaxing sedation; and teeth whitening. They want to emphasize that they have three goals when it comes to cosmetic dentistry, which are: aesthetics, longevity, and natural appearance. As part of their cosmetic dentistry services, they offer veneers, which are thin porcelain coverings that overlay the visible surface of one or more teeth. This can be used to disguise a range of cosmetic flaws, such as: permanent discoloration, misshapen teeth, teeth spacing issues, and uneven size or shape of teeth.

Meanwhile, temporomandibular joint disorder (TMD) is a key focus at Supremia Dentistry. Dr. Suh is one of the top TMD clinicians in the state of North Carolina. There are various factors contributing to TMD, such as incorrectly placed orthodontics, early bottle feeding, thumb sucking, and neuromuscular development issues. TMD is frequently misdiagnosed or undiagnosed due to its range of varying symptoms. Common signs of TMD include: migraines or headaches; tinnitus (ringing in ears) or earaches; vertigo; repeatedly fracturing teeth, dental crowns, and other restorations; grinding or clenching teeth; pain in the shoulders, upper cervical neck area, or behind the eyes; and popping sound or impaired functioning in the jaws.

To diagnose TMD, Supremia Dentistry uses BioPac, which is a state-of-the-art computerized measurement device that provides a range of precision data, such as joint sonography, muscle readings, and computerized jaw tracking. Dr. Suh examines the BioPac data in combination with the results of a patient's evaluation to provide a precise diagnosis and plan for effective treatment.

They also offer dental implants, which can last for a lifetime and are very similar to healthy teeth in feel, look, functionality, and strength. A small piece of titanium is implanted into the jawbone to serve as replacement for the root of a tooth. It is important to note that most of their patients have reported that the implant procedure was actually more comfortable than an extraction procedure.

They also provide Invisalign orthodontic treatment, which offers a modern approach to teeth straightening. This system employs a series of clear aligner trays that are specifically made for each patient. These are made from BPA-free thermoplastic material, which are transparent and gentle to the mouth. The gradual movement of the teeth are accurately planned by an exclusive Invisalign software and CAD/CAM technology. They can provide the patient with 3D image of the current bite and the predicted results of the treatment. The braces are metal-free and the trays are practically invisible, which means better aesthetics. The trays can also be removed when eating and for easy cleaning.

Established in 2003 by Dr. Suh, Supremia Dentistry uses an advanced and state-of-the-art painless approach to dental care. Dr. Suh emphasizes preventative care and strives to provide patients with an effective, efficient, and comfortable procedure. They are regarded as a leader in diagnosing and treating TMD through non-invasive, non-surgical procedures. They also specialize in sedation dentistry, cosmetic dentistry, treatment for sleep apnea and gum disease, dental implants, and Invisalign®. Dr. Suh is a world-renowned speaker about subjects that are pertinent to real life dental practice, ranging from streamlining practice management to aesthetic principles and the simplification of complicated adhesive protocols. He has been honored by the Las Vegas Institute for Advanced Dental Studies, with the Lamplighter award, and voted among "America's Top Dentists" for several years.
