The chiropractic clinic in Atlanta specializes in treating injuries caused by personal injury accidents from car accidents, motorcycle accidents, work injuries, truck accidents, slip and falls, and more. They are capable of providing treatment for most types of accident injuries, including back pain, neck pain, hip pain, whiplash, knee sprains, and more.

The chiropractors at Arrowhead Clinic are capable of diagnosing and treating several neuromuscular disorders through the application of manual adjustment methods to correct misalignments in the spine that may be the reason for certain health problems. Chiropractic treatment may be used to help in decreasing pain and in enhancing body function through the use of holistic techniques that are both non-invasive and natural. It is important to note that instead of focusing only on the symptoms, chiropractors will treat the source of the injury in order to provide long-term relief. They will not simply rely on medication or prescription drugs but instead will allow the body to use its natural healing ability.

The chiropractors at Arrowhead Clinic also realize that not all injuries are the same and that most will likely need more diagnostic tests, such as MRIs, to obtain a proper diagnosis. Victims of a car accident will need to see an emergency physician who will check the body for any injuries, whether they are apparent or not. And if there is no immediate or life-threatening danger, the doctor will most likely refer the patient to a skilled chiropractor at Arrowhead Clinic for the treatment of soft tissue injuries.

The injuries and pain experienced by accident victims of car and truck accidents can severely affect their lives, reducing their mobility and causing a lot of pain. Through careful diagnosis and provision of chiropractic and medical care, the professionals at Arrowhead Clinic ensure that the patient?s pain levels, unique conditions, and needs are all addressed.

Those who are injured in an accident can take advantage of the free consultation provided by Arrowhead Clinic. They also have access to the most affordable and the best personal injury lawyers in the area. They recommend that accident victims consult with their chiropractic doctors first before they get the services of an attorney to ensure that they have all of the necessary documentation they would need to file a case.

They have treated more than 400,000 accident victims over the last 40 years and they are leaders in the industry. They have an in-house x-ray to diagnose injuries at the patient?s first appointment.
