December 03, 2015

December 03, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

August Photography has announced new high school senior destination sessions throughout the southwest United States. The company states that they travel to areas such as Texas, Colorado, Missouri, New Mexico, and throughout their home state of Oklahoma to give high school seniors a photo session to remember.

Julia August, spokesperson for the company, states, "We specialize in high school senior photos and want nothing more than to make these pictures something to remember fondly for decades." She says that the company has many years of photography experience, and have been providing destination sessions around the Oklahoma area for quite some time. They regularly travel throughout the southwest searching for places to shoot sessions. They offer one hour sessions or all day adventures, giving seniors and their parents a unique way to capture this time in their Senior's life.

August explains that their aim is to help seniors forgo "boring, cookie cutter sessions" and instead choose a destination that sparks interest and perhaps holds some special meaning for the senior. They provide a number of natural backdrops and themes, and can help students and their parents to choose a destination that aligns with their interests and their budgets. "We really do want to make senior pictures special," she says. "We love traveling and have found some wonderful places to shoot amazing senior sessions."

The company states that those interested merely need to contact them for information about destination shoots. They also offer these sessions for families and groups, but their passion is in helping high school seniors fondly remember their senior portrait shoots.
