

GERO Releases Product That Can Be Used As Effective Car Gun Holster

October 21, 2015

October 21, 2015 -
GERO, a Colorado based company that manufactures a car gun holster with the same name, has announced that the product is now being used by authorities as well as consumers for effective gun storage. The company points out that the holster is able to keep guns stationary in a moving vehicle. Company spokesperson Isaac Salguero says, "It is doing exactly what it was designed to do. We specifically designed the holster to hold up to speed bumps and even the most rugged of vehicles, and it's doing its job perfectly."

Salguero revealed that authorities have contacted the company to mention that they are using the gun holster when off duty in their personal vehicles. Customers have praised the holster for giving them security, stating that the benefits of being able to carry a concealed weapon to protect against crime are countless, and that the gun holster allows them to safely carry their weapons discreetly, enabling them to get to the weapon quickly when needed.

"We had one consumer who said she felt safer going to the grocery store, just because she knew that she could grab her gun in seconds if needed," states Salguero. He goes on to say that this is the reason that GERO designed the car holster, to provide consumers with a fast and effective way of accessing self-protection whenever the need arises.

The car gun holster was released a few months ago on the Amazon marketplace, and has been a customer favorite since. The company states that while they were ready for consumers and private citizens to readily accept the product, they had no idea that off duty authorities would praise it as well. "We couldn't be happier that our holster is helping out not only normal citizens, but our men in blue as well," states Salguero. The company explained that the holster can be used by anyone who wants to safely conceal and carry their weapon inside their vehicle, and allows release of that weapon within seconds.

Those interested in learning more about the holster, which can be easily installed in any vehicle, can visit the company on their Amazon seller's page or on their official website.
