Long Beach, California ? When Julia Salvia realized that her tree was on the verge of falling on her house at around 9 pm, she had no option but to call several tree service companies to see if one of them would help her get rid of the tree as soon as possible. After calling 5 different companies, all of them telling her to wait until the following morning, Julia finally connected with Long Beach Tree Experts.

?I was extremely happy when they told me they would arrive in under one hour,? said Julia. ?And true to their word, they arrived at around 9:51 PM, just 32 minutes after I had called them. They had powerful lights and advanced machines. They did not mind working in the cold and rain as the storm had not yet fully passed. They spent a good five hours of their Friday night working on my tree. And they did not even overcharge me for ruining their night ? they charged me a very fair price.?

?While it may be the first time for Julia to see a team of professionals working overnight,? said the company?s CEO, ?this is not the first time we are handling tree service procedures in the middle of the night. Property owners in this city work with our emergency tree service Long Beach department to eliminate unexpected risks at all hours of the day or night. Our team of tree cutting professionals Long Beach understands those tree emergencies are never planned for ? our prices, for this reason, are kept within the affordable range at all times.?

Long Beach Tree Experts told our reporters that its team does not just specialize in emergency tree removals alone. ?We also have a tree trimming team Long Beach that helps restore beauty on overgrown trees,? said the company?s CEO. ?Our tree pruning team has won the hearts of many clients after helping them improve the safety and health of their trees by getting rid of damaged, diseased, and pest-infested branches from their tree crowns.?
