Purely Triton Limited, a company based in Hong Kong, has recently launched a personal mini massager that is designed to help individuals relieve stress, pains, and aches on various parts of the body. Hitoshi Hirano, spokesperson for the company, states, "We developed this massager to serve a number of needs. It offers powerful vibrations to help ease out aches and pains, and generally help you to relax tired muscles after a long day at work or play."

The massager, which can be seen at <http://goo.gl/esN2i3>, has a flexible silicon head that pivots in all directions, allowing for easily hitting any sore spot on the body. Small enough to carry, it has also been found to be powerful enough to provide the same relief as a traditional massage, according to Hirano.

"It's perfect for reaching those hard to get at spots on your back or neck, and works perfectly to increase blood circulation to the feet and other areas," he states. He says that the massager is specifically designed to target smaller areas.

Studies over the years have shown a massage to be very effective in helping to alleviate pain from overusing muscles and tendons. Deep tissue massage is often used as a form of therapy for patients with sore muscles, and many with chronic pain issues. Some therapists recommend a monthly massage for patients who have a lot of muscle pain. Hirano says that his company's massager allows consumers to enjoy a massage every day of the week if they want, and that it offers more than an hour of use on a single charge. He says, "We recommend it for anyone who is suffering from chronic pain, or anyone who has a job that requires repetitive use of certain muscles."

The new personal massager comes in a velvet pouch for carrying, as well as a USB cable for charging via computer or laptop. The cable will also connect to many smartphone outlet chargers.
