Martin Valkov of Green Sunshine Medical Weed Dispensary says, ?It has been proven time and again that medical marijuana is an established way to treat a number of conditions. However, due to the fact that there is still some backlash against its use, even in states where it is legal, it is important that those who are prescribed medicinal cannabis have somewhere where they can reliably find high quality weed that can bolster their treatment. Green Sunshine Medical Weed Dispensary was established with the intention of providing top shelf medical cannabis to the residents of Oklahoma City and the surrounding areas.?

Medical marijuana uses the marijuana plant (or chemicals in it) to treat certain diseases or conditions. It does not differ in any way from recreational marijuana other than the fact that it is used for medical treatments. As explained by WebMD, the marijuana plant contains more than 100 different chemicals called cannabinoids, and each one has a different effect on the body. Delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) and cannabidiol (CBD) are the main chemicals used in medicinal applications. THC is the chemical that is also responsible for the ?high? people feel when they smoke marijuana or eat foods containing it.

Due to its effectiveness as a medical treatment, more than two thirds of US states and the District of Columbia have legalized marijuana for medical treatments ? and more are considering bills to do the same. Further, researchers are constantly studying its effectiveness in treating a variety of conditions, including but not limited to Alzheimer's disease, eating disorders and appetite loss, cancer, Crohn's disease, diseases affecting the immune system like HIV/AIDS or Multiple Sclerosis (MS), epilepsy, mental health conditions like schizophrenia and posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), muscle spasms and more.

Marijuana is able to serve as a medicine due to the cannabinoids in its chemical makeup. These are not dissimilar to chemicals the body makes that are involved in appetite, memory, movement and pain. Current research on the subject suggests cannabinoids might reduce anxiety, reduce inflammation and relieve pain, control nausea and vomiting caused by cancer chemotherapy, kill cancer cells and slow tumor growth, relax tight muscles in people with MS, stimulate appetite and improve weight gain in people with cancer and AIDS and so on.

Valkov says, ?We believe that medicinal use of weed can change lives. By allowing people to get access to good quality weed at an affordable price, we are able to help them in a real way. Whether by way of weekly offers or our knowledgeable staff who are eager to help, Green Sunshine Medical Weed Dispensary is constantly working to serve people who are undergoing medical treatments with weed.?
