Jackpot Candles Now Offering The New Candle Scent Of Candy Corn

October 16, 2015

October 16, 2015 -
Jackpot Candles, a company specializing in jewelry candles, has recently launched their new scent: Candy Corn. The company is known for their unique wax products that contain rings, earrings, or necklaces, which are valued anywhere from $15 to $5,000. They have stated that there is a jackpot in every candle.

The latest scent found in the Jewelry Candles from Jackpot Candles was designed to recreate thoughts and imaginings of Halloween and autumn. With notes of vanilla and undertones of sweet sugar, the 100% soy candle burns for 80 to 100 hours, leaving behind the surprise of a jewelry item. This new scent is also available in 100% soy wax tarts, which can be used in tea light and bulb warmers throughout consumer homes.

More information regarding the Candy Corn scent can be found at http://jackpotcandles.com/can-320. Here, an image of the candle, along with a description of the scent, options for ordering, and preferred jewelry type allow consumers to request ring sizes or alternative "jackpots," to be found within.

Keeping up with the current trend of social media, Jackpot Candles also encourages those who enjoy their products to check out alternative accounts, such as Instagram. Many of their customers use these sites to post images and reviews of their own candle experiences. They have said the following regarding these photos: "Check out some of the jewelry our customers have found on our Instagram!"

Jackpot Candles has also invited all current and potential customers to follow them online for opportunities to win free products and learn more about upcoming products, saying: "Like us on Facebook for our weekly giveaways."

All Jackpot Candles are made in the United States, and contain an appraisal code for the jewelry hidden inside. Customers can use the "Appraisal" link on the main website to determine the value of the treasure found in the candle. These pieces are wrapped in foil before being deposited in wax so that he rings, necklaces, and earrings do not get damaged during burning.

Along with their newest scent of Candy Corn, Jewelry candles from Jackpot Candles also come in other scents, such as Pumpkin Pie, Salted Caramel, Birthday Cake, and a variety of others.
