Long Island, NY-- Being charged with a criminal offense in New York can have major repercussions. Few people are more aware of this better than Suffolk County criminal lawyer Jason Bassett. The results of being convicted of a crime can be dire and can often even alter the trajectory of an individual's entire life. Mr. Bassett believes that no one ought to face the criminal justice system on their own and without the benefit of a knowledgeable and experienced criminal defense lawyer.

As an experienced criminal lawyer, Mr. Bassett knows that the quality of criminal defense that a person gets after they are charged with a crime can make a big difference. Whether the charges get dismissed, downgraded, a plea deal is presented to the defendant, or if they wind up in prison or jail and for what the length of time, can frequently depend on the work of their defense lawyer. Whether a person has actually been charged with robbery, assault, murder, domestic violence, or perhaps a DWI or DUI, a criminal charge and conviction can haunt them for years to come. This is why it is crucial to have the representation of someone with the knowledge, experience, and perseverance to fight for the offender's rights.

"While criminal penalties and prison time are hard enough, the way criminal charges and convictions affect the rest of the defendant's life can be similarly devastating," said Mr. Bassett. "A defendant can be penalized and serve their time, and yet for the rest of their life, there is a reminder that they are still considered a criminal in society's eyes. A criminal charge can impact a person's future employment, academic options, professional licenses and accreditations, and involvement in particular government programs. Each time that individual requests a task, the potential employer will look at them in a different way. A well-crafted criminal defense is vital to protect my customers not only from the criminal punishment itself but also these other long-term collateral repercussions."

As a former prosecutor, Mr. Bassett has witnessed the other side of the criminal justice and the way numerous defendants feel they are without power within the system. He has since turned his sights to criminal defense in order to level the playing field and safeguard the rights of those who have been charged at both the state and federal levels. Both clients and other attorneys continue to offer favorable reviews and testimonials when it comes to their work together.

Donnelly Knapp from Suffolk County states: "Jason as well as his team did an impressive job representing me. His experience and understanding of the system are unparalleled. He is reassuring and kind. I recommend him to anyone needing a criminal defense attorney. I can't thank you enough."

In our legal justice system, an accused has essential rights, and it is the criminal defense attorney's job to uphold those rights. With over twenty-one years in the criminal justice system, Mr. Bassett has devoted his practice to securing the rights of his clients in and out of the courtroom.
