Arrowhead Clinic in Savannah Lists Reasons Why Accident Victims Need Chiropractic Treatment

October 08, 2021

Savannah, Georgia - October 08, 2021 -
Arrowhead Clinic in Savannah, Georgia, has posted a new blog post for accident victims. Entitled, ?Why is My Savannah Lawyer Sending Me to a Chiropractor,? the blog post gives reasons for victims to get accident injury chiropractic care in Savannah, GA. Dr. Jeremy Thompson, the leading Savannah car accident doctor, advises victims to seek medical treatment immediately after the accident in addition to pursuing a personal injury claim against the negligent driver and their insurance company.

The blog post warns that neglecting medical care after an accident is not always a good idea, adding that even the best Savannah personal injury attorney might refer the victim to a Savannah car accident chiropractor, regardless of their post-accident health. Dr. Thompson explains that accident victims should not ignore medical help because even a minor fender bender can wreak havoc on their body, causing hidden injuries that could last for months or years if left untreated. The Savannah chiropractor notes that an ER cannot offer long-term treatment and recovery after an accident, which is a specialty of chiropractic professionals.

The blog post states, ?all accident victims must see a doctor right after their accident, no matter how they feel, to ensure there are no hidden injuries.? Arrowhead Clinic is a trusted chiropractic clinic with state-of-the-art equipment to diagnose hidden injuries. The top car accident lawyer is aware of the fact that a road accident can cause hidden injuries that may take hours, days, or even weeks to present themselves in the form of symptoms. ?Your lawyer has your best interests in mind, so they want you to be examined and diagnosed as soon as possible to determine if you have any underlying injuries like whiplash,? explains Dr. Jeremy Thompson.

The top car accident chiropractor in Savannah suggests that hidden injuries could take weeks or months of chiropractic care to heal properly. A timely diagnosis is also crucial for medical records that play a vital role in the victim?s compensation claim. A personal injury attorney understands the need for medical documentation to pursue the victim?s settlement claim and recommends they see a chiropractor immediately.

Chiropractic care is the right type of car accident treatment in Savannah that can strengthen the victim?s claim. The top Savannah, GA, chiropractor warns, ?The longer you wait to receive treatment, the harder it will be to obtain the full amount of compensation you're owed.? The blog post also warns that any delay in seeking chiropractic treatment could adversely affect the victim?s claim and give the negligent driver's insurance company valid reason to argue against the compensation claim.

Arrowhead Clinic in Savannah has a team of expert chiropractors who are friendly, compassionate, professional, and work to treat an accident victim. They understand the need for emergency diagnosis, care, and documentation for victims and make sure the patient feels comfortable all through the accident injury treatment in Savannah, GA. Car accident victims seeking the best compensation for their injuries, pain, and suffering should first consult with the top Savannah chiropractors. The best accident injury treatment chiropractors are available for a free consultation on Arrowhead Clinic?s website.

Arrowhead Clinic has served thousands of accident victims across Georgia during its 40 years of service. Its first chiropractic clinic was also started in Savannah by Dr. Harry Brown with a mission to provide the best chiropractic care for injury victims.
