Celltronix, a Colorado based accessory company, has recently launched a new mobile accessory for taking selfies in addition to their line of other mobile device tools. These sticks allow for users to take photographs without the aid of a partner with more distance than the average self-photograph.

Compatible with all cellular phones, the company has described the sticks as being most popular with the iPhone 6, as well as other iPhone and Samsung Galaxy models. It is compact enough to travel easily while offering enough reach to take photos from a presentable distance. Celltronix describes the usefulness of the tool as follows: "You will no longer be limited to having to hold the smartphone out at arm's length in front of you to take selfies. You can now take more formal pictures even when you're by yourself, bringing much more possibilities and angled takes to add to your personal pictorial collection."

As a tool for mobile photography, the Selfie Stick is being offered not only as a personal phone accessory, but also as a possible addition to any celebratory event, such as birthday parties, weddings, family reunions, proms, graduations, and more. It is provided with a built in shutter button and wired auxiliary cable control. The company reports on further characteristics of the stick, saying: "Durable construction with a rubberized grip, no need for Bluetooth pairing, no need to download an app and no need for charging or batteries required. Simply plug the aux cable into your headphone jack and start taking great selfies. Universal 1/4 screw for use with traditional cameras and the removable clamp adjusts from 2.4" to 3.4."

Along with the ability to buy the stick in singles as a consumer, Celltronix is also offering nine packs of the product for distribution through gas stations, corner stores, beauty salons, electronics shops, and other methods of retail. They have also noted that the nine pack of selfie sticks can be used as gifts for family and friends with the approach of the winter months and holiday season.

Those who are interested in getting more information about the mobile accessory or Celltronix can visit the company's Facebook page, or they can check out the company's Amazon listing for the Selfie Stick.
