October 2021 (Sydney, NSW)?- Mighty Car Removals Sydney is still operating normally despite the recent pandemic. They're continuing to provide car removal service, and their website has additional measures taken to keep the customers safe. The Management will be following all Government directives concerning personal hygiene and social distancing. The company wants nothing but the best for its customers' well-being during these times when things may seem anxious around certain areas.

In a worrying development for the entire country, NSW Health has announced that eight people, including one man from western Sydney, have died from Covid-19 after they tested positive. There have been 587 new cases of the virus in NSW.

According to the latest news update, stay-at-home orders have been extended for some areas in regional NSW, including Snowy Monaro Regional LGA, Oberon LGA and Sunset Strip in the Central Darling Shire and Menindee.

The health authorities have announced that more than 70% of eligible residents aged 16 and older are now vaccinated against Covid-19, meaning a host of restrictions will ease on Monday. Once the 80% target is reached, likely next week, there will be another wave in reducing measures taken by officials across Sydney to contain this outbreak which has been locked down since mid-June. After one case emerged at Bondi Beach area, then spread rapidly throughout the city and other regions, triggering several snap lockdowns.

Despite all of these announcements from the government, all of Mighty Car Removals services are still available. The company is based out of Kings Park, but its service goes beyond the boundaries of Sydney as a whole. They pride themselves on having an incredible team that gives exceptional customer care by providing clients with competitive quotes and paying owners fast cash for unwanted cars. At Mighty Car Removals Sydney, they purchase any vehicle in any make and condition. They buy all vans, 4WDs, cars, trucks and buses. The company have no interest in what state a vehicle might be in as they still offer amazing cash payment for it. The services they offer are cash for cars, cash for trucks, Car Wreckers, Car scrappers, and Free car removals.
