Milwaukee, Wisconsin ? After years of using manual climbing during tree trimming, Milwaukee Tree Service Experts has finally decided to take advantage of innovative technology to make its work easier. Last week, the Milwaukee tree service company invested in a brand-new bucket truck. The company will be using the bucket truck to reach crowns sitting on top of the tallest trees in Milwaukee and neighborhoods like Whitefish Bay, Elm Grove, Cedarburg, Merton, Shorewood, and Fox Point.

?In the past,? said the Milwaukee Tree Service Experts CEO, ?our tree trimming team Milwaukee was using too much of its time climbing up trees manually. As you may have guessed, tall trees presented the biggest challenge ? while one can rely on a ladder to trim a 15-foot tree, a 150-foot tree will involve more climbing time and more risk. To make tree trimming easier for our team of tree cutting professionals Milwaukee, we have decided to invest in this bucket truck. Carrying our tree trimmers to the tree crown and holding them safe while they are working on the tree, the bucket truck will improve safety and reduce tree trimming time. This will have a positive impact on the cost of tree trimming ? when we spend less time on a tree, we will be in a position to charge a more affordable tree trimming cost.?

The CEO noted that the bucket truck will also come in handy in other tree service procedures, including tree pruning and tree removal. ?Sometimes,? said the CEO, ?we are faced with tree service removal Milwaukee procedures involving trees standing too close to utility lines. For such trees, tree pruning may have to be conducted before removing the tree to eliminate the possibility of property damage. In such circumstances, the bucket truck will help us remove branches from the crown safely.?

Established more than 25 years ago, Milwaukee Tree Service Experts has grown from a tree trimming company to become a multi-service provider. Today, the company handles all tree-related services, including, emergency tree service Milwaukee, stump removals, and tree removals.

One of the things that set the company apart is its experienced team. Using more than 3 decades of tree service experience, the company can turn risky procedures into safe, manageable procedures.
