As a professional and reputable provider of commercial cleaning services in Sydney, Clean Group serves the routine and occasional cleaning needs of hundreds of businesses throughout the region. The company has, as of now, a team of 50+ full-time cleaners who are all trained in the company?s safety-focused cleaning practices.

?From the very beginning, it has been our vision to make safe & efficient cleaning services to accessible everyone in Sydney.?

The company CEO explains how Clean Group ensures safety in their cleaning practices: ?For one, we only use green and eco-friendly cleaning products that are certified non-toxic and safe for the environment and humans.? As it is well known, toxic cleaning supplies can do a lot of harm to people. Many cleaning products available in the market contain harsh chemicals that are not good for our skin and health and can initiate a range of diseases, including asthma and skin allergies. Opting for green cleaning is the best way to help save the environment and keep people safe from harsh chemicals found in cleaning materials.

As the demand for green cleaning increases and businesses become more aware of the side effects of using harsh chemicals for cleaning, the number of green cleaning products in the market is also increasing. In fact, going green is not much expensive any longer, given the range of green cleaning products is becoming affordable with time. That coupled with companies like Clean Group that are offering affordable & quality-focused green commercial cleaning services is all the more reason for businesses to opt for eco-friendly cleaning.

Clean Group provides professional commercial cleaning services all over Sydney, with an emphasis on professionalism. Their cleaners are well-dressed, dedicated and always on time. Professional cleaners with a friendly attitude and the ability to pay attention to detail are some of the things that make Clean Group stand out from the competition. The company provides full insurance for its cleaners and cleaning services. ?Most of our customers are big businesses, organizations and strata buildings in Sydney. They prefer quality and professionalism over anything else, and that?s exactly they get from us.?

Clean Group CEO, Suj Siv, has been in the commercial cleaning business for over 20 years now. He and his partners have experience working with different companies providing a variety of cleaning services. ?Basically, we have worked on almost every kind of business facility in Sydney. That gives us a unique edge over other cleaning companies and the ability to understand and meet the customers? requirements. Having access to world-class cleaning techniques, equipment and training, there is not much our cleaners can?t do.?

That?s true. Clean Group provides all kinds of commercial cleaning services to all types of business properties. From basic office cleaning to deep factory cleaning, hygiene cleaning in gyms, germs removal in medical centres and hospitals, safety-focused cleaning in childcare centres, schools, etc., cleaning of big buildings like strata, and specialised services like window cleaning, carpet cleaning and after builders cleaning, they have experience in all. More importantly, their cleaning methods are designed to achieve great results without breaking the budget.
