EmojiPrints, an online clothing business, has recently started offering customization options for all their shirts. This means that people can create a personal t-shirt with an emoji that is meaningful to them. They also offer a number of popular designs that people can purchase directly.

Kate from EmojiPrints says: "Emojis are probably the faces of the 21st century. They are as descriptive of our generation as the peace sign is of the 60s, or the smiley is of the 80s. The big difference is that emojis can express a variety of different emotions, which is where the name comes from. Because every person is unique and has unique feelings, there is an emoji for everybody as well."

Besides Emoji shirts, the company also offers a variety of other products with emoji prints. These include buttons, fridge magnets, hats, key chains, mouse pads, mugs, pillows and stickers. The t-shirt range, meanwhile is available for both men and women. They also have a line of clothing products designed for kids and babies.

With the spooky season of Halloween coming up, the company has also released details about some of the more popular Halloween designs for their t-shirts. While people can, as always, choose their own designs if they so wish, the existing emoji shirts can give them inspiration or provide them with a great option if they don't have the time to design their own.

"Halloween is around the corner," Kate points out. "If you're not ready, no problem. We're here to help. You really don't need some expensive fancy costume to impress. Check out our definitive list of the emoji that will make the best Halloween costumes this year."

The company is also running a monthly Emoji shirt giveaway. To take part in the competition, people simply have to enter their email address. Winners are announced on Facebook at the end of each monthly competition. Further information about the shirts and other merchandise offered by the company, as well as on the competition are highlighted on the EmojiPrints blog. The blog is also regularly updated with new and interesting information, as well as other competitions.
