Straight Arrow Roofing is a GAF-certified roofing contractor and offers various kinds of roofing and related services. These include roof leak repairs; roof inspections; siding installation and repairs; gutter installation and repairs; soffits and fascias; and flat roofing.

They want to stress to homeowners and other property owners the importance of roof maintenance. Maintenance and repairs for the roof are a vital part of the process of ensuring that the roof will be working properly. Appropriate roof maintenance may also prolong its life span. They also recommend that homeowners regularly inspect their roof to check if there are any obvious problems and if there is any growth of vegetation, such as moss within the gutter. If a roof leak is detected, homeowners need to take prompt and fast action to have it repaired. And it is important to always have the roof maintenance work done by professionals.

In addition to roof repair, Straight Arrow Roofing can also offers siding installation and repair services. They can repair or replace sidings with products given an EnergyStar, which will not only make the property look great but also make it energy-efficient and maintenance-free. They recommend fiber cement for those who are looking for a low-maintenance siding that appears like conventional wood siding. While it looks like wood siding, it is very resilient and does not crack, rot, or warp easily.

Straight Arrow Roofing also provides flat roofing services, including flat roof leak repair, replacement, leak detection, and installation. They offer new rubber-based flat roofs that are more convenient and less expensive than the previous flat roofs made from bituminous materials. Modern flat roofs offer much better thermal efficiency and energy savings.

Founded in 2014 by Joel Guerra, Straight Arrow Roofing started the company with just one truck. However, with the founder?s commitment and expertise of the staff, the company has grown and is currently a reputable roofing company with more skilled professionals to perform the job efficiently and effectively and having the capability to handle bigger and more complex roofing projects.
