October 14, 2015

October 14, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

American Roofing Pros, has announced that they are expanding their roofing services to Wilmington, NC. The Wilmington Roofing Company will offer new roof construction, roof repair, and roof replacement to the greater New Hanover County area.

Josh Smith, Director of Marketing for American Roofing Pros, has released a statement about the expansion, calling it "the best decision the company has ever made." Smith adds, "While we have been providing residential roofing services across the United States for quite some time, we have never offered services in the greater Wilmington, NC area until now. This is a fantastic new market for us and we are much looking forward to being of service to the New Hanover County area residents and businesses." Mr. Smith adds, "We are excited for the opportunity to grow our reputation to the best roofing contractors in Wilmington."

The company has been providing roofing services across the United States for more than 20 years. They offer commercial as well as residential roofing services. They also work with other contractors to provide customers with unique and customized roofing solutions.

In addition to new roof construction, the company provides roof repairs, new shingle installation, slate roofing, and more. "We can do just about anything you would need done," explains Josh Smith. The company proudly supports their staff, stating that they utilize their years of experience, and their natural eye for design to create the ideal roofing solution for any situation. Specialists are on hand to perform roof inspections, educate potential customers, and offer solid solutions.
