Long Island, NY-- Being charged with a criminal offense in New York can have severe consequences. Few people are more aware of this better than Long Island DWI lawyer Jason Bassett. The results of being convicted of a crime could be dire and can often even alter the trajectory of a person's entire life. Mr. Bassett believes that no one should face the criminal justice system alone and without the advantage of a competent and experienced criminal defense attorney.

As a knowledgeable DWI lawyer, Mr. Bassett understands that the quality of defense that an individual gets after they are charged with a crime can make a big difference. Whether the charges get dismissed, reduced, a plea deal is offered, or if they end up in prison or jail and for what length of time, can typically depend upon the work of their defense lawyer. Whether an individual has been charged with burglary, assault, murder, domestic violence, or perhaps a DWI or DUI, a criminal charge and conviction can haunt them for years to come. This is why it is vital to have the representation of someone with the knowledge, experience, and determination to fight for the defendant's rights.

"While criminal penalties and jail time are difficult enough, the way criminal convictions and charges affect the rest of the defendant's life can be similarly devastating," said Mr. Bassett. "An offender can be punished and serve their time, and yet for the rest of their life, there is a reminder that they are still thought of as a criminal in society's eyes. A criminal charge can impact a person's future employment, educational opportunities, professional licenses and accreditations, and involvement in particular federal government programs. Each time that person gets a task, the potential employer will look at them in a different way. A well-crafted criminal defense is important to protect my customers not only from the criminal penalty itself but also these other long-lasting collateral repercussions."

As a former district attorney, Mr. Bassett has witnessed the other side of criminal justice and the way lots of suspects feel they are without power within the system. He has since turned his sights to criminal defense so as to level the playing field and safeguard the rights of those who have been charged with a crime at either the state and federal levels. Both other attorneys and clients continue to offer positive testimonials and reviews when it comes to their work together.

Julius Armstrong from Long Island states: "This law firm is simply the best! There was a lot of things that I did not understand about my criminal case but Mr. Bassett was kind enough to explain every detail to me. He guided me and helped me throughout the entire process. Even though my case was difficult, he made me believe in him and trust that everything will work out fine. And it did, all thanks to him. I would recommend him to anyone. Thank you for everything you've done."

In our legal justice system, an accused has essential rights under the law, and it is the criminal defense attorney's task to maintain those rights. With more than twenty-one years in the criminal justice system, Mr. Bassett has devoted his practice to protecting the rights of his clients in and out of the courtroom.
