San Diego, California-based company Gforce Green Electric Solutions has quickly climbed into the ranks of the most sought-after electrical contractors in their area. Some of which can be attributed to the reputation that this company has for doing quality work and for the respectful way the staff and techs at the company treat their customers. Josh Baxter, a spokesperson for the company, also feels that their fast response times separates them from Other Electric Repair Companies in the area too. Responding quickly to their customers' needs has been a hallmark of Gforce Electric Solutions for over 20-years now. Baxter says, "It does not matter whether a customer is a homeowner or a business person because they all have one thing in common. That's the fact that their lives often center around the electric-powered computers, phones, gadgets, HVAC systems, and appliances that surround them in their homes and businesses. It's this need to keep these devices supplied with the electric power necessary to run them as to why we are dedicated to responding so quickly when our customers call us for help with any type of electrical issues."

Baxter went on to say that one of the reasons that they can get to their customers so quickly is over the years they have expanded into several new locations. From what all began at their McGraw St., San Diego location, they now have 5 different locations that they work out of. This includes the company's Huntington Beach, Poway, and Chula Vista branches along with their Lakeside CA Office. He stated that they opened all of these branches because it only made sense to them that the closer they are to their customers, the quicker they could get to them when they need electric installation and repair services. The company spokesperson says that in addition to providing same-day service whenever possible, they also offer 24-hour emergency electric service 365 days a year. The company also has what it refers to as its 60-minute service. When a customer makes arrangements for this type of service, Gforce Green Electric Solutions will have a tech to their home or business within the hour. He says that they are so confident in their ability to get to their customers quickly, that on-time service is one of the six guarantees that they offer their customers. This includes them showing up within 20-30 minutes of a customer being notified that a technician is on the way.

The company spokesperson says that not only do they like to take care of their customers' electric installation and repair needs as fast as possible, but they offer them many different electric services to choose from. This lengthy list includes such tasks as electrical troubleshooting, commercial and residential electric repair & upgrades, ceiling fan installation, electrical panel upgrades, generator installations, and providing electrical hookups for remodels & renovations. They also install & repair solar panel systems, offer free estimates & home Safety Inspections, and are fully licensed & insured. Baxter mentioned that they are also happy to have a customer stop by and talk to them about their home or business electrical questions or concerns. Lakeside Directions and directions to any of their other offices are available on the company's Google Maps Business Listings.

Whether this electric contractor is serving the needs of commercial or residential customers, 5-star reviews such as the following suggest they do that work the right way. Circuit Studios PH stated, "We needed the quick addition of a new set of outlets in our server room. We called Gforce Green Electric Solutions and he was there to take a look within half an hour and then did the work the next day! He was efficient, well priced, and extremely nice. Highly recommend!" Agnes Fowler wrote, "I had to find an electrician because the lights in my bedroom went off, the rest of the house was fine. My friend recommended Gforce Green Electric Solutions so I called them. The electrician came out the next morning to troubleshoot the problem and ended up replacing 9 outlets. He was fast, knowledgeable, professional, and cleaned up well after he was done. I also always wanted to get recess lights so I asked him to give me a quote (very reasonable) and now I have my recess lights too! I was extremely satisfied with this job."
